YOUR BACKACHE WILL YIELD

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rockland, Maine.—"I was troubled for a long time with pains in my back and side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged, and thought I should never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and thought I would try it. After taking three bottles I was cured, and never felt so well in all my life. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends."—Mrs. WILL YOUNG, 6 Columbia Avenue, Rockland, Me.
Backache is a symptom of female weakness or derangement. If you have backache, don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing you know of will do this so safely and surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Cure the cause of these distressing aches and pains and you will become well and strong.
The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has restored health to thousands of women.
Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge.

The Smallest Dictionary.
Peter J. Collison, who is head of a printing firm in Brooklyn, has an English dictionary containing 364 pages and the definitions of 14,000 words, which is so small that it has been worn as a watch chain. It is one and one-sixteenth inches long, three-quarters of an inch wide and less than one-third of an inch thick. It is enclosed in a silver case and in the cover is a magnificent glass which Mr. Collison finds it necessary to use when consulting his dictionary. The New York Herald, which prints a cut of the little book, says that it was published by Robert Maclehose of Glasgow and was dedicated to Mrs. Randall. The publisher said in the preface that the work was undertaken "in appreciation of kindly encouragement given to the production of this article, of which she has a unique collection."

"Pure as Any Classic."
Governor McLean's eulogy of his successor in the executive chair was a credit to himself and to his native state. It was an ex corde tribute, solemnly conceived and beautifully expressed, a piece of literature, pure as any classic and too rare among the utterances of the public men of our day. The speech is in some way comparable to the masterpieces of Lincoln, and it should share their immortality.—Catholic Transcript.

Higganum.—One of the largest eels taken from the Connecticut River was caught the other night by John Butler and his partner in their net. It measured 3 1/2 feet long and 7 1/2 inches in circumference.

NOTES IN AND ABOUT WESTERLY

Speculation as to when Horse Thief Fuller will be Sentenced—Honors for Dr. T. E. Robinson—How a Dry Drummer Cured His Thirst in Westerly—Social Wind-Up of Gymnasium Classes' Season.

Unless "Albert Fuller," the convicted horse thief, seeks to take his case to the supreme court on a claim for a new trial, according to a local lawyer, sentence cannot be passed in Westerly when the superior court holds special session here next week. He will probably receive sentence either the last week in May or the first week in June.
It is expected that after the court session is completed in Westerly it will adjourn to East Kingston to hear a civil case. Should there be no action on the part of Fuller-Keyser-Mason-Potter in seeking for a new trial, the attorney general could at that time move for a sentence. The convicted man is now in the Washington county jail.

Dr. Thomas E. Robinson of Westerly was elected treasurer of the newly created board of state veterinarians at a meeting held for organization in Providence Thursday. Dr. Charles T. Bray of Riverpoint was elected chairman, and Dr. John S. Polard of Providence, secretary. Meetings will be held May 17 and May 21, when applicants may take examinations to become veterinarians under the state laws.

This burlesque hit at the local conditions is clipped from the Drummer's Story Department of a western newspaper.
"At Westerly, R. L., a nice little prohibition town, I wiped the perspiration from my forehead after a polite baggage-master had charged me 120 pounds excess baggage and looked disgustedly at a soda water sign in the window of a drug store near the station. A round, fat fellow traveler was swinging his feet from a seat on a baggage truck and I strolled over and just to appear liberal remarked: 'Till buy the beer if you'll tell me where is it.'"

"No, thanks. Just had a couple of bottles; but I'm no Loeb. You just go over to that drug store, walk right in behind the prescription desk to the room in the rear. You'll see an ice chest there, and inside is a box of beer. Help yourself, and when you come out say in loud words for each bottle you drink on the counter."
"That listened good to me, and I followed instructions. The proprietor was the only person visible and I ignored him. I led the ice chest open and was reaching for a bottle when he grabbed me. 'I explained, but my story didn't go.'"

"No, sir! I don't sell beer. That's my wife's beer, prescribed for her health."
"I wandered back to the cigar counter, thirst unquenched, and after telling him a string of stories I heard Chauncy Dupree tell when I was a lad—and four times since—he told me to go back to the chest and break in if necessary."
"Honestly, it's getting nowadays that I spend more time on the road trying to get a bottle of beer than I do for my employees."

William Titmas, employed in the Clark thread mill, Westerly, and whose father before moving to Warren a year and a half ago kept the five and ten cent store in West Broad street, is to enter the employ of the government. Out of a class of six who took the civil service examination two weeks ago for the position of carrier in the rural free delivery system of mails from Warren, Titmas received his appointment Wednesday and is preparing for his duties, which are to begin next Saturday.

The appointee is 18 years of age and will provide himself with a horse and mail wagon. His salary is to be $650 and the length of the route to be covered daily is sixteen miles.

The Young Ladies' Gymnasium classes conducted in the gym of the Memorial building under the direction of Miss Lillian Morse ended for the season on Thursday evening. At the close of the financial session Miss Morse became the guest of her pupils and was entertained at the Grand Army banquet hall, where a collation was served and a special programme rendered for the entertainment of the guest of honor and which was shared by her appreciative pupils.

The action of the superior court, upon recommendation of the Westerly town council, in suspending sentence in the A. E. Collins case, upon the promise of the accused to not violate the law hereafter has caused this editorial comment from a Hartford paper:

"The question that occurs to us is why a simple promise to obey the laws should be so readily accepted, when the man on being made a citizen must have taken a solemn oath to the same effect."
The people of Westerly generally are satisfied with the final disposition of the Collins case.

The C. A. C.'s of Norwich succeeds the Mystics in the Rhode Island-Connecticut baseball league. There was a special meeting of the league Thursday afternoon in the office of the president, Dr. John M. O'Connell, and the resignation or withdrawal of the Mystic team, caused by the new rule prohibiting the use of college players in league games, was accepted.
Wakefield, which was admitted into the league under the temporary franchise of Hope Valley, was given permanent franchise, which was in turn transferred to the C. A. C. baseball team of Norwich. The league games start next Saturday. The C. A. C.'s taking the place of Mystic in the schedule. Westerly favored rescinding the rule that was obnoxious to Mystic, but the majority were against.

The Westerly High school team and the freshman team from Kingston College played a game of baseball in football weather at Riverside park Thursday afternoon. The Westerly boys won by a score of 11 to 2.

Local Laconics.
There will be an open session of the Westerly town council Monday.
William H. Morris of New London was a visitor Thursday in Westerly.
John M. Welch of Providence was the guest of his brother, James A., in Westerly Thursday.

David C. Anderson of Cincinnati, a summer resident at Watch Hill, has arrived for the season.
Capt. Arthur N. Nash and several local artillerymen attended the track events in the state armory, Providence, Thursday evening.
The regular business session of Anna Warner Bailey chapter, D. A. R., was held at the residence of Mrs. Oren Rogers in Pawcatuck Thursday afternoon.

Rev. Clayton A. Burdick officiated at the marriage of Miss Medora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vars, and Merrill J. Wilcox at the home of the bride in Niantic Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Ann Hannafy, aged 65, died Thursday morning at her home in Hobart street after several months' illness. She leaves three sons, John, Patrick and Michael.
Rev. F. C. A. Jones will assume the pastorate of the Calvary Baptist church Sunday. His household goods arrived from Rochester Wednesday and Rev. Mr. Jones and family came Thursday.
Peter P. Palmer, the mortgagee, has purchased the Everett D. Chapman home and land on the Potter Hill road. It was sold by Auctioneer E. B. Pennington Thursday noon and the purchase price was $490.
